What is a French door?

French doors are an excellent choice for classic and contemporary homes to achieve the desired aesthetic. These doors typically consist of one or two panels that swing open, similar to other interior doors in your home.

Aluminium French doors offer a luxurious feel without the concerns of warping that can sometimes occur with timber products. These doors, sometimes called hinged doors, are particularly popular in Hamptons-style homes.

Ideal location

French doors are designed for modern living while occupying minimal space, making them ideal for laundry rooms, balconies, and terraces. They can also provide a classic and elegant entrance to your patio or backyard.

Secure your entryway

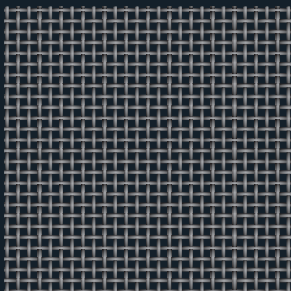

If security is your top priority, you can't look past our Stainless View™ or Ali View™ screens, designed to complement our Signature French doors.

With superior strength mesh and fixing system, they provide robust protection against would-be intruders without impeding your view.

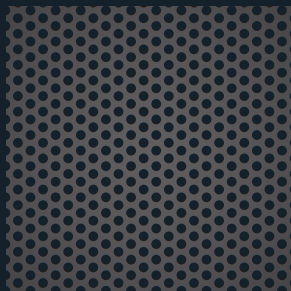

Both products are carefully tested for resistance against knives, forcible impact, jemmying and other threats.

They are designed to protect you, your home, your family and your possessions.

Stainless View™ mesh is made from T316 marine grade stainless steel.

Ali View™ mesh is made from perforated aluminium panels.
